

If Only

If only
Just a moment more
If only I'd known.
Known we were coming to this...
It was to be our last time.... to be our last time.....

Just a moment more...
I'm begging, just a moment more,
To see you and tell you,
To tell you so much
To speak the unspoken words we kept laying aside.

If only you'd known how deep in my heart you are...
Deep in the sobbing that rises to overwhelm me.

I am choking now..
I was choking then...
But let me speak...
I love you. I love you.

Too late...
It is finished...
Cut clean away...
And aching I bleed..

This is too sudden..
Too painful...
Numb with shock I am frozen tight gripped in the labour of grief...
Meaningless... meaningless.

Just a moment to touch,
Just a moment to kiss,
One last time,
One lingering last time today
To remember our good times of yesterday...

If only my eyes could open again and see your smile,
And see your smile
If only my eyes could open again and see your smile,

And I could feel you comforting me in your arms again,
In your arms again

Nothing can be the same,
I have not walked this way before.
Why you? Why, my dearest, you?
It should have been me who died instead.
So lonely. So lonely.

Just a moment to say goodbye.
If only....
Just a moment
Just a moment to say goodbye.
If only....
Just a moment
Only...